

Dear All, Dear Colleagues,

The Igor Sikorsky Kyiv Polytechnic Institute herewith notifies about a new mode of working with you as one of our key partners.

Adverse circumstances caused by the fight of all countries against the global coronavirus pandemic have also entailed the introduction of strict quarantine and other stringent control measures aimed at saving lives in our country.

Under the circumstances when the pandemic has accelerated to a high risk level, the international activities of the University have been transferred to the temporary mode of operation, which is based on the wide use of information and communication technologies.

It cannot be emphasized enough that our cooperation is not interrupted even in these conditions.

We are ready (and it is our sincere desire!) to take the following steps in carrying out the agreements reached with you in the previous period.

The suggested steps could be the following:

- 1) ongoing cooperation and regular contacts;
- 2) information about the state of affairs at a partner university;
- 3) exchange of information about new projects and support of active projects.

We would like to emphasize our commitment to these and other priorities in the development of our cooperation that were established during our meetings.

It may be helpful to conduct correspondence by e-mail so as to discuss the steps that we can take together in further efforts to make them doable.

In conclusion, allow me to express our admiration for the courage with which Polish people confront the threats and challenges of an unprecedented scale in modern history, as well as our solidarity with your fight against the global coronavirus pandemic.

Yours sincerely,

International Collaboration Department
